Editor's Note

It is our immense pleasure that we present this latest volume (Volume 10, Number 1 & 2) of the Journal of Nazrul University. This edition highlights high-impact multidisciplinary bilingual research. We are pleased that this journal has become a prominent platform for publishing scholarships from academics of the highest echelon, thereby elevating the university's reputation to a global standard.

I thank the concerted efforts of the editorial board whose meticulous scrutiny has ensured the inclusion of the most innovative research in accordance with our "double-blind" vetting policy. I appreciate the anonymous reviewers who have exerted their maximum efforts to evaluate the Scholarly works and provided valuable comments to improve the quality of the papers. I would also like to acknowledge the invaluable support of all stakeholders, whose ongoing engagement with the Journal of Nazrul University has been instrumental in achieving its goal of becoming one of the leading research journals in Bangladesh.

I extend my appreciation to all established and aspiring researchers across the globe for supporting our efforts by submitting research across multiple disciplines and all areas of higher education. On our part, we promise a quick response and a commitment to fairness, equity, and transparency in our peer review and publication process.

I hope that you will enjoy reading our journal and that the original findings and nuances of the authors will broaden your intellectual horizons. Please note that we welcome and appreciate your comments about all aspects of the journal.
